The Adventurers sing some of their favourite songs

Connie: Well, it sounds like we are ready to record! Good job I've already booked us in at Blueprint studios in Manchester with our audio genius Ian SFX flourish of cool audio and musical maestro Andy! SFX cool music flourish

Ian records and produces music with loads of cool artists! He's amazing!

And Andy composes music, plays in bands and conducts orchestras, when it comes to music, you name it and he can do it!

I'm so excited gang; we're going to get the full studio experience! Even the popstar Rhianna has recorded there! You know, "you can stand under my umbrella ella ella..."

Customers: Wow! That's Amazing, if it's good enough for Rhianna its good enough for us! Etc.

Music: Armchair Adventures Theme (instrumental only, with sleigh bells)

SFX of musicians practising in a rehearsal room (in a different room)

Ian: Hi everyone! Welcome to Blueprint, my name's Ian...

Andy: And I'm Andy, it's great to meet you all!

Customers: Hi Ian! Hi Andy!

Cyril: What sort of thing do you do here Ian?

Ian: Well, I record all sorts of different things, from bands and singers to audiobooks and orchestras.

Customers: Fantastic! Wow that's amazing, Oooh! Were in safe hands then! Etc.

Ada: And I'm glad you're here to help us with our Christmas song too Andy.

Cyril: I'm a bit nervous! I've never recorded a song before.

The Customers all agree with Cyril

Andy: Don't worry everyone, it's nothing we can't handle together!! No need to be nervous I promise.

Connie: Thanks Andy. I was feeling a little nervous myself! What do you think gang? How amazing is it in the studio!

Steve: It's so cool!

Keith: Look at that mixing desk!

SFX moving sliders, twisting knobs, pushing buttons

Cyril: And all the microphones! La la la la...

SFX of mic feedback and the 'la la la' as if come out of an amp

Lynda: And the sound booth.

John R: Oh look at all those pictures of famous singers...

Pat: Look at these huge headphones...

John O'G: There's even a lampshade like a guitar pick...

Hazel: What can you see at the recording studio adventurers?

SFX Ding

Adventurer: Pianos...

Adventurer: I can see loads of sound proofing on the walls...

Adventurer: There are so many cool instruments everywhere...

Adventurer: A giant desk with loads of buttons...

Adventurer: I can hear music playing in the background...

Adventurer: It smells like hit records!

SFX of band from other room slowly fades out from here

Ian: I'm glad you like it, but I didn't think you were still coming? Didn't you get my message?

Connie: No, I didn't! I was so excited to get here I've not looked at my phone!

Ian: Oh well, there's a huge snow storm coming in within the next hour!

SFX dun dun dun

Customers: Oh no! What are we going to do! I've not even done me pressie shopping!

Ian: Don't worry everyone, we still have a good hour!

Andy: If you have your song ready to record, we can have you out of here and enjoying a hot chocolate at home before you know it.

Connie: Eeerm, confession time gang... I was so excited about the idea I never even got started thinking about the actual song itself.

Lilly: Oh no!

Ada: What are we going to do?

Hazel: How will we make up a whole song in an hour?

Keith: And record it!

Lynda: We do love music but it's a lot to think of on the spot.

Andy: Never fear, I have a super-duper song writing workshop, that's perfect for a situation like this!

SFX superhero fan fare

Customers: Oh brilliant! Thank goodness for that! Etc.

Connie: Thanks Andy, sounds very exciting!

Andy: Then let's get to it So, my first question is...what ingredients do all songs have?

Connie: Errrm I can't think now, you've put me on the spot...gang?

Steve: Oh, the pressures really on now!

Kenny: My minds gone blank.

Customers: Nor me? Errrm, ohh that's a tricky one!

Cyril: Sounds like a job for the adventurers.

Ronnie: Good idea Cyril.

Pat: What ingredients make up a song adventurer?

SFX Ding

Adventurer: A catchy beat...

SFX drum beat

Adventurer: A melody...

SFX a little tune

Adventurer: Instruments...

SFX of a few instruments playing together

Adventurer: Don't forget lyrics!

SFX writing on paper

Lynda: Oh thanks Adventurers! You saved our bacon there!

Andy: And you just mentioned the perfect place to start, lyrics!

Keith: Of course, every song needs lyrics.

Anne: So, what do we do?

Andy: I'm glad you asked Anne. The first thing we need to do is create a word bank!

Steve: Oooh what's that?

Ronnie: Can we use it to buy our presents!?

Andy: Haha not quite Ronnie! We think of loads of words as a starting point to inspire us! And that becomes our bank. And because your song is about Christmas, we just need to think of loads of words that make us think of the festive season!

Hazel: Ooh like snow!

Pat: Presents!

Kenny: Fun!

Cyril: Time- like time spent together!

Lynda: Together that's good too, Cyril!

Andy: That's it gang!

Connie: I can feel my imagination firing up now! What words make you think about Christmas adventurer?

SFX Ding

Adventurer: Lights...

Adventurer: Trees...

Adventurer: Magic...

Adventurer: Laughter...

Adventurer: Everyone...

Adventurer: Presents...

Adventurer: Santa!

Andy: Great start adventurers! Now I want you to think of some words for how we feel at Christmas time!

SFX Ding

Adventurer: Excited...

Adventurer: Cosy...

Adventurer: Happy...

Adventurer: Love...

Adventurer: Joy.

Connie: Brilliant! This bank is really starting to fill up now. What do we do next Andy?

Andy: Well now we have to create a sentence from words in the bank. It's also good if we can make part of it rhyme too.

Hazel: How about we start by describing what we're singing about? Christmas time...

Connie: Good idea! So, starting with something like 'Its Christmas time...'

Cyril: And a greeting would be good next...

Connie: So 'Merry Christmas everyone?'

Cyril: Perfect!

Lynda: How about using some of the words the adventurers said next! 'A time for laughter and for fun!'

Andy: Wow with lyrics like these it really feels like Christmas has begun!

Connie: Andy you genius! That is an amazing rhyme to finish the sentence!

Andy: Go on then Connie, put it all together...

Connie: It's Christmas time, so merry Christmas everyone, a time for laughter and for fun, Christmas has begun.

The customers all like the sound of that

Ada: What a great start!

Ian: I don't mean to rush you gang but the snows already started to fall outside, look out of this window...

SFX Window creak followed by light snow storm sounds

Cyril: Oh dear, that snow's not messing about!

Hazel: Some of those snowflakes are as big as my head!

Connie: Try not to worry gang, we're on a roll now. I'm sure we will have the song done in no time.

Pat: Yes, you're right Connie, let's plough on.

Customers: General agreements: We can do this! Let's beat the snow! Hope we don't end up needing a plough! Etc!

John O'G: So, Andy what's next?

Andy: Well, now we need a catchy melody.

Keith: Who's 'Melody?' And what's she got to do with it?

Anne: It's a not a person Keith, he means the tune!

Andy: That's right; the melody is something that makes us want to sing along.

Connie: Sounds good! So, how do we do it maestro?

Andy: Ok, I'm going to play some chords like this:

SFX Andy plays the chords to the chorus of the song slowly

SFX Andy playing the chords then softer to underscore the next few sentences

And I want you to try and sing a rhythm out loud using our sentence.
Let's start with 'it's Christmas time'

Cyril: How about (in the rhythm) It's Christmas time...

Connie: Ooh yeah I like it!

Keith: I think I've got the next bit, how about (in the rhythm) so merry
Christmas everyone

Andy: Great stuff! How about you adventurers? Can you think of a rhythm to go with 'a time for laughter and for fun?'

SFX Ding

Adventurer: Yeah how about: (in the rhythm), 'a time for laughter and for fun?'

Connie: Amazing! And how about this for the end, 'Christmas has begun'

Andy: Brilliant! Now we need to add some pitches to those rhythms! Pitch is how high or low the sound is. This is a low pitch sound.

SFX low pitch note

And this is a high pitch sound:

SFX High pitch note

Let's play a game to help you identify the pitch. When you hear me play a high note, I want you to wave your arms in the air like you just don't care. And when I play a low note, I want you to wave to the ground as low as you can...

Connie: Right let's do this, are you ready to get pitchy gang?!

Customers: Too right! Pitch this! Wooo hoo! Etc.

Connie: You too adventures! Arms high for high pitch, arms low for low pitch!

SFX Ding

SFX Andy plays a high pitch

Adventurer: Wave your arms to the sky!

SFX Andy plays a low pitch

Adventurer: Put your arms down!

SFX Andy plays a high pitch (x2)

Adventurer: Don't miss the pitch-

SFX Andy plays a high and low pitches quickly

Adventurer: Arghhh, he's going too fast!

Connie: Ha, that was so much fun!

Andy: Now, Let's try adding some pitches to the rhythm of the sentences we created, why don't you have a go Connie?

Connie: Ok here goes nothing...

SFX mic feedback

Connie: (Singing into the mic) 'It's Christmas time, so merry Christmas everyone!'

Andy: Sounding great!

Lynda: Oh yeah! How about this next: (singing into the mic) 'A time for laughter and for fun!'

Cyril: I've got the ending! (Singing into the mic) 'Yeahhh Christmas has begun!'

Andy: I love that, 'yeah' you added Cyril, sounding like a rock star!

Cyril: Ah thanks Andy, I always knew I was rock and roll!

SFX Rock and roll electric guitar riff

Andy: OK everyone let's put that all together! 1, 2, 3 go

SFX Andy playing the song and the gang singing along

Customers: (Singing)

'It's Christmas time
Merry Christmas everyone
A time for laughter and for fun
Yeah, Christmas has begun'

Connie: You too adventurers, join in at home as we sing it again...

SFX Ding

SFX Andy playing again

Adventurers: 'It's Christmas time
Merry Christmas everyone
A time for laughter and for fun
Yeah, Christmas has begun'

Connie: This is so cool, what do we need next everyone?

Keith: I'd say we need to make a band.

Pat: Great idea Keith, let's use loads of instruments to make the track sound exciting!

Hazel: Oh yes! What instruments will you play everyone?

The customers are deciding what to play

SFX of lots of different instruments

*Promo swap***

Connie: While everyone's figuring out what instruments they want to play in the band let's pause our journey of the imagination. There's something I'd like you to listen to. It's another podcast I think you'd enjoy...

Andy: Well it looks like we have ourselves a band!

Connie: Oh yeah! 'The Armchair Adventures Christmas Crackers!!'

SFX A short blast of a band.

Andy: Well now we have a band, a perfect way to get the rest of the song is a Jam session.

Cyril: I bagsy raspberry!

Andy: Not that kind of jam I'm afraid Cyril, a jam session is a band coming together and trying things out.

Cyril: Ooohhh gotcha!

Andy: Let's play around with what we have so far and see what we come up with for the rest of the song...

SFX Band playing

SFX Ian dramatically bursting through the door

Ian: (urgent shouting) STOP THE MUSIC EVERYONE!

Customers: (shocked by Ian) AARRGHHH

SFX crashing sounds of everyone dropping their instruments, comedy missed notes, a trumpet blast, a bum note on a string and then a tinkle of a triangle hitting the floor to finish for comic effect!

Connie: Oh no Ian what's wrong!

Ian: Sorry to interrupt but the snow has really picked up outside, look!

SFX door opening

SFX huge snowstorm

Pat: Oh no, It's going to be bad soon!

Keith: I don't know about soon...

Hazel: It already looks pretty bad to me!

Lynda: We definitely won't be driving home for Christmas that's for sure.

SFX door slam

Connie: Try not to worry everyone, I think we're ready to record.

Kenny: We have the lyrics...

Ronnie: The melody...

Ada: Complete with pitch...

Keith: The band...

Hazel: The song is pretty much ready after the jam session...

John R: But it feels like there is something missing...

Connie: Maybe we should ask the special guest adventurers?

Customers: THAT'S IT! SOME ADVENTUERERS!

Connie: You're right! We need some adventurers here at the studio to perform on the single with us!

Steve: It won't sound the same without their voices in it...

Ada: No Christmas hit is complete without a choir!

Lynda: And the adventurers would be perfect!

The customers all agree

Steve: From when we met him with Connie's Uncle Chris?

Ada: And helped him get his Christmas spirit back in season 3...

Ronnie: Of course I have! Me and Santa are besties!

John OG: Amazing!

Pat: Why don't you give him a ring? He could pick up the adventurers in his sleigh...

Lynda: Bring them here...

Ada: And then we could finish our Christmas single...

Hazel            And he can take us all home afterwards...

Cyril:            A snowstorm's no match for Santa and his reindeer!

Connie:          Great idea gang! Go on Ronnie, give him a call!

SFX ringtone

Santa:           Oh no!

Connie:          And we were wondering if you could help us finish it by bringing the Adventurers here on your sleigh? And then maybe, if it's not too much trouble, you could take us all home on it too?

Santa:           Absolutely Connie! It will be a good practice for Christmas eve, really shake off the snowflakes!

Santa: Oh me? Oh Connie, so generous of you! But I'm not sure what I can contribute...
